

Abstract

The invention provides a method to process samples for DNA detection and a method to identify the vancomycin resistance gene status of an organism.